Short Horns vs. Scrubs.

A few years since an experimental test was made in Illinois with a view We had been admonished to wear our best clothes, and, if possible, to avoid black, as the Egyptians are very superstitious ubont visits from people wearing that line. My daughter, tortunately had a dress of line occasion. I was obliged to appear in black velvet, unodified by a white bonnet, which, though hastly luprearance. We were also told to wear all our jewelry, which was not a very laborious thing to do. Having crossed the threshold we found ourselves in a little world of women, where one man only has the right to come. We had been admonished to wear experiment was conclusive that the calves of a full-blooded short-horn which eliquette required us to accept. bull gained on average of $8 33 in value of two quite satisfied our ne and 166 pounds in weight every year for three, or more than the calves from a scrub bull did-all the calves being ont of scrub, cows .- Furmers'
